LIFE UNDER HUN WAS LIVING HELL

Englishman Tells of Four Years in Bruges During Occupation.

CRUELTY OF KULTUR RULE

Determined Efforts by German Officers to Break Spirit of Belgian Residents Prove Futile—Fined Indiscriminately.

London.—Life under the German heel is vividly portrayed in the diary of Mr. Humphrey Page, an Englishman who lived four years in Bruges during the German occupation. Events are recorded showing determined attempts by the German officers to break the spirit of the Belgian residents proved futile. The ramifications of kultur-rule also are shown. Here are some of the events, sketchily told:

In September, 1916, the Bruges city council was directed to find a specified number of workmen for the Germans under penalty of $25,000 fine for each day's delay. All who refused to work were imprisoned.

M. Schrauvane, leading attorney, discussing this affair with Belgians in a cafe, said he would not work for the Germans, and considered Bel-$20 a pair, re-soling same $3, while dress goods and flannels became so expensive only the wealthy could buy.

Food supplies were unsatisfactory and the Germans did nothing to alleviate them.

In November, 1917, metals of all sorts, especially brass and copper, were confiscated. German soldiers going from house to house and building to building to strip away the metal.

Uses Funeral for Propaganda.

On February 2, 1917, some German planes dropped bombs by mistake on Bruges. Von Buttlar, commandant, decided the funeral of the victims could be utilized for propaganda purposes. He got a wreath and a photographer, and while the mourners were about the grave, made them line up, put himself in the center and had the scene recorded. On September 3, 1917, allied airmen dropped bombs at the Bassin and were fired at from St. Croix. Shells fell in Bruges, killing a dozen people. The German officers refused to allow funeral mass notices to be posted unless the line "killed by English shells" was added. The

War's End Brings Wave of Crime to Sea

Seattle, Wash.—The end of the war is bringing a wave of crime throughout the country, especially in this city, according to Chief of Police Joel Voren of Seattle. He says guns and hundreds of other criminals who have been working in the shipyards and other essential war industries to avoid going to war are leaving their work for the easier life.

The chief says the recent break of crime here has verified his prediction made months ago that the end of the war would be followed by many infractions of the laws.

Belgians refused and the notices were torn down.

Two Germans constructed bomb-proof cellars accommodating 200 to 1,000 persons each. While evacuating they came upon 8,000 hidden bottles of wine belonging to M. Ganshof. The wine was taken without payment. The bomb-proofs were for Germans and people in small houses without cellars had to take their chances at night, although they could use the "public refuges" in daytime.

DEVILISH TO LAUGH

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

Again the H. C. L.
"My income is suffering," moaned the moving picture star.
"Isn't business good?"
"Splendid. But my manager is compelled to spend so much for lunch and lodging I'm afraid he won't be able to make up my annual million-dollar increase of salary."

Foresight.

"I understand that de gemman you's ginter marry is a cook."
"Yes," replied Miss Miami Brown.
"I picked him out. De rule of dat happy home is ginter be, 'Any gemman dat find fault wif de cookin' kin do de cookin' hisself.'"

A Lonely Life.

"Flubdub always seems so lone some."
"Why, he married a fashionable beauty."
"Yes, he married her, but he has never succeeded in getting into the set she belongs to."

When They Lean Over the Rail.
"I see by the papers that aviators frequently suffer from a malady very like seasickness, due to the pitching of the plane."

"H-m. That's going to be mighty unpleasant for us pedestrians below."

The Arts.

"Of course, you admit the necessity of using alcohol in the arts."
"Yes," replied Uncle Bill Bottletop; "and just between ourselves I regard mixing a drink as an art."

Catty.

Belle—George thinks I'm easy to please.
Nell—No wonder, after so many of us had turned him down.

VERY LIKELY.

First Congressman—He wants to be considered a giant in debate.
Second Congressman—I reckon that's why he uses such blamed long words.

A Race.

There seems but little to be praised in fortune's strange devices.
For every time your pay is raised
There comes a jump in prices.

Liked to Have Seen It.

The Gossipy One—Say, old man, they tell me your wife was run down at the club this afternoon.

The Long-Suffering One—My goodness! Why wasn't I there?

An Apprentice's Work.

"What in the world makes Crank-smith so peculiar?"
"Oh, some years ago he flew all to pieces over something and the doctor put him together wrong."—Judge.

Alienation.

"I hear that Mr. Young Husband has gone back on his mother-in-law."
"Yep, that's because his wife went back to her."

Sense of Superiority.

"Is Higgins patriotic?"
"Yes, but egotistic as usual. He is inclined to assume that nobody else can be as patriotic as he is."

Goes Without Saying.

Artist—Sir, I will make you a speaking likeness of your wife.
Patron—It wouldn't be a likeness if you didn't.

Quite So.

Fat Man (after squeezing through)—Confound it! The turnstile is a relic of the dark ages.

Gatekeeper (smiling)—But you can't deny, old top, that it's one of the things that really count!

The Goose Step.

Mrs. Flatbush—What new step was that you were trying last night?
Mr. Flatbush—That's the goose step. Didn't you know it?

Mrs. Flatbush—I never saw a goose do it before.

Half a Century Ago

Half a Century Ago, every community could be supplied to some extent with locally dressed meat, drawing on live stock raised nearby.

Now two-thirds of the consuming centers, with millions of people, are one to two thousand miles away from the principal live-stock producing sections, which are sparsely settled.

The American meat packing industry of today is the development of the best way to perform a national service.

The function of providing meat had to develop accordingly. Those men who first grasped the elements of the changing problem created the best facilities to meet it—large packing plants and branch houses at strategic points, refrigerating equipment (including cars), car routes, trained organization, profitable outlets for former waste—which became the natural, inevitable channels for the vast flow of meat across the country.

If there were a better way to perform this necessary service, American ingenuity and enterprise would have discovered it, and others would now be using it.

During 1918, Swift & Company has earned a profit on meats (and meat by-products) of less than 2½ cents per dollar of sales—too small a profit to have any appreciable effect on prices.

usand years hence, or, say, a million years. Pill boxes are something which will stand almost everlasting ages. Scores of drainage sluices across roads had all been covered with temporary bridges by the Belgian engineers following up the German destroyers. These bridges and culverts were not as neat and workmanlike as ones the British and Americans had, but they held the traffic, and that is the important thing just now. Through the suburbs of Ostend we were cheering Belgians dressed for the occasion. The people were so grateful to the British that they seemed to mind the mud we spat off the road behind trees, and their mud screen shouted greetings to the English. As the extraordinary Flanders mud would even dirt up to first floors of houses many of the people, learning from experience, had taken to second stories, from which they clapped their hands and waved flags. The only damage we saw at Ostend was the wreckage of the marine and railway stations and the shattered glass in buildings on the sea front, due to the air concessions from British monitors pounding the retreating enemy.

FRANCE HAS GREAT LEADERS

Marshal of France is Wonderful Title and Most of Those Who Have Held Baton Have Been Wonderful Men.

Paris.—What title in all this world calls up such heroic memories as that of marshal of France? It is a wonderful title and most of those who have held the baton were more than wonderful men. In every other army a field marshal is a grade, but the French army has no field marshal; it has simply the title of marshal of France. The regulations of the French army prescribe that the title of "marshal of France" is not a grade, but an honor. This expresses

Hat Check Pirate Is Put in "Please" Class

New York.—The hat-check pirate in Gotham has been relegated to the "please" class rather than that of "pay me." District Attorney Swann has decreed that the practice of tipping hat-check boys or girls is not compulsory—in fact, should be classed as "nonessential." The opinion followed the complaint of a cabaret customer "whose $3 hat has already cost him over $14" and who was called a "piker" by a check boy when he refused to check his hat and coat.

the end of the pier was the gallant old Vendictive, after its magnificent part in the Zebrugge bottling exploit, where she served as a boarding ship and carried the great superstructure to permit British marines to climb on the Zebrugge mole, had been filled with concrete and sent in to block Ostend as a U-boat and destroyer base. The Vendictive made it impossible for sizeable ships to get into Ostend, and the Germans, just before the retreat, tried to complete the work by sinking a small ship alongside the Vendictive.

However, there is still room at high tide for small relief ships and barges. In fact, we saw a converted trawler of the American Red Cross already in the harbor, as well as many similar British ships.

all military excellence in a general, who does not outrank his colleagues, but who by some deed or deeds has brought particular distinction on himself or his army.

The first battle of the Marne was the reason why General Joffre became a "marshal of France." Today there are only three "marshals" in all France—Joffre, Foch and Pétain. The marvelous strategy of Foch stands out more clearly every day. Napoleon had many "marshals," all of them prodigies of valor and some of genius—Masséna, Lannes, Soult, Murat, Ney and others. The emperor made them either dukes or princes or both, and sometimes kings. But with all their glory I doubt if any one of them has rendered such signal service to his country—certainly not to humanity—as have Joffre and Foch.

General Gallieni, the former governor of Paris, would have been made a "marshal" had he only lived long enough to receive the honor due him. It would be a beautiful idea if the government of the French republic created him a marshal even now, and inscribed on his tomb: "Gallieni died in the service of his country. General de Division—Marshal de France." It might not do the general any good, but it would please the army and the entire country, while it would render justice to an immortal name and would be a fitting tribute to a great and good soldier, though whether they call him general or marshal or drum major makes little difference. Gallieni's name rests secure in his 30-word proclamation and in safekeeping of 40,000,000 free Frenchmen, for whom he did more than any other one man to retain their liberty at a critical time. He will live forever in the heart of the French "poula." He was too good a soldier to ask anything better than that.

Joffre Won at the Marne.

Marshals Joffre and Foch, as the world knows, are also great soldiers. For three long years Joffre withstood the fearful onslaught. He never murmured, though he had terrible difficulties to endure. He husbanded his small army while we prepared ours. When his task was done and the battle of the Marne gained, Joffre retired from activity with the great honor he had hardly won.

Foch has always been victorious. He has served his country with love, with ardor and felicity. To his fine character he adds great ability. He has been preceded by a list of names which have illuminated the history of France and mankind during the centuries.

Dog Flesh Is Valued at $125 Per Pound

Seattle, Wash.—Dog flesh valued at $125 a pound is the subject of a suit in the superior court here.

"Champion Impy," a Maltese with a gross weight of eight pounds, is valued at $1,000, according to allegation in a complaint on file. He is declared also to be the only English champion of his breed in America.

The complainants declare they left the dog with the defendants for treatment in June, 1918, and now, although the animal is cured, the champion is withheld from his rightful owners.

CANADA'S NEW DEVELOPMENT

the War a Period of Prosperity.

It is evident that the Government of Dominion in its programme of reconstruction and development is undertaking a work of tremendous importance. There will be a greater demand for work than has been allent since 1914, and the rehabilitation of labor will entail the thought and energy of most capable heads. The reconstruction period from war to peace will be rapid and thorough, and, in the opinion of Canada, stinking into a state of decay, there will be a continued demand for work which will give employment to the unemployed, and return for his money, effort and enterprise.

The agricultural potentialities of the Canadian West possess millions of acres of the best of soil, capable of producing millions of bushels of wheat of grain. The cost of growing this is lower than any place on the continent. There will be a greater demand than ever for these lands, the consequent production will be heavier and the profits attractive. Cattle and sheep will be one of the chief developments, and the encouragement of the continued high prices of beef products will bring. European countries have been depleted of cattle and the demand for beef, cattle and sheep products will tax the efforts of a producer for years to come. Western Canada offers unequalled opportunities for development in this line.

The Canadian West plans are being developed for the development of electric power which can be produced cheaply. There is an abundance of water power that could be developed into this useful energy. Cheap power produced in this way will mean to the farmer and development of industrial enterprises cannot be estimated in figures.

More power at Niagara, on the St. Lawrence, and at waterfalls all over the country, is ready to be launched. Peace will see new mine fields opened up, and it is equally certain that a building, railway equipment, steel production, and many of the industries will go forward with a bound.

Canadian industries will be required in the reconstruction of Europe, and the Government has a commission to study the possibilities of a second world war. Canada is a great part in the world, and in the days of peace will be found equally active. She feels that by the valor and loyalty of her people she has earned a large share of the business and prosperity that will follow the war period, and she proposes to get it—Advertisement.

Greeting the Ways.

Said the near-cynic: "You can say what you please about elbow grease being necessary for success, but the only tongue has got it bent a thousand ways."

HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES IF YOUR BACK ACHES

Do you feel tired and "worn-out"? Are you nervous and irritable? Don't sleep well at night? Have a "dragged out," unrested feeling when you get up in the morning? Dizzy spells? Bilious? Bad taste in the mouth, backache, pain or soreness in the loins, and abdomen? Severe distress when urinating, bloody, cloudy urine or sediment? All these indicate gravel or stone in the bladder, or that the poisonous microbes, which are always in your system, have attacked your kidneys.

You should use GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules immediately. The oil soaks gently into the walls and lining of the kidneys, and the little poisonous animal germs, which are causing the inflammation, are immediately attacked and chased out of your system without inconvenience or pain.

Don't ignore the "little pains and aches," especially backaches. They may be little now but there is no telling how soon a dangerous or fatal disease of which they are the forerunners may show itself. Go after the cause of that backache at once, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

Do not delay a minute. Go to your druggist and insist on his supplying you with a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. In 24 hours you will feel renewed health and vigor. After you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two Capsules each day so as to keep in first-class condition, and ward off the danger of future attacks. Money refunded if they do not help you. Ask for the original, imported GOLD MEDAL brand, and thus be sure of getting the genuine.—Adv.

Acid-Stomach Makes Millions Suffer

Indigestion—dyspepsia—sour stomachs—bloated, gassy stomachs—belch, miserable-feeing stomachs—these are Acid-Stomachs.

What a lot of misery they cause! How Acid-Stomach, with its day-after-day sufferings, does take the joy out of life! Not only that—Acid-Stomach is always undermining one's health. Think of what acid does to the teeth—how the acid eats through the enamel, causing them to decay. Is it any wonder, then, that Acid-Stomach saps the strength of the strongest bodies and wrecks the health of so many people?

You see ACID-STOMACH victims everywhere always ailing. They can't tell exactly what is the matter; all they say is, "I don't feel well"—"I'm all in; tired, sickly." If they only knew it, nine times out of ten it is Acid-Stomach that is ailing them. It surely makes good digestion difficult, causes food to sour and ferment in the bowels, weakens the blood and fills the system with poisons. It prevents one from getting the full strength out of their food.

Take EATONIC and get rid of your Acid-Stomach. This wonderful modern remedy actually takes the excess acid out of the stomach. It quickly and positively relieves bloated, heartburn, belching, food repeating, sour, gassy stomach, and the pains of indigestion. Makes the stomach cool and comfortable—keeps it sweet and strong. Banishes all stomach troubles so completely that you forget you have a stomach. You can eat what you like and digest your food in comfort, without fear of distressing after-effects. EATONIC helps you get full strength out of every mouthful you eat—and that is what you must have to be well and strong—full strength from your food.

Get a big box of EATONIC from your druggist TODAY. We authorize him to guarantee EATONIC to please you. If it fails in any way, take it back; he will refund your money. If your druggist does not keep EATONIC, write to us and we will send you a big 60c box. You can send us the 50c after you receive it. Address H. L. LIBERTY FUEL GIVEN O. K.

Tried in Extensive Tests and Proves Success.

Used in Everything From Trucks and Tractors to Airplanes, Say Inventors.

Washington.—"Liberty fuel," the substitute for gasoline developed by Maj. Oliver B. Zimmerman and Capt. C. C. Welschberger of the gas and oil production division of the war department, has proved its great reliability in extensive tests in automobiles, motorcycles, motortrucks, tractors, stationary engines and airplanes.

"The test results," said Major Zimmerman, "showed that although checked against every commercial grade of gasoline in the highest types of gasoline engines, refined to the limit of engineering knowledge and with no change in the carburetor, it nevertheless develops a greater thermal efficiency than the best gasoline."

The new fuel can be produced in varying grades to meet the requirements of the several types of gasoline motors. Unlike gasoline, which is largely all of one grade, the new fuel can be manufactured specially for motorcycles, trucks, tractors, airplane engines or any other type of gas engine.

"It will be possible in the future for a person to drive up to a filling station and secure exactly the grade of fuel required for his particular machine. This will result in more satisfactory service from every gasoline machine in the market and give the motor owner a maximum of efficiency for a minimum of outlay."

Other government experts who have witnessed tests of the new fuel are highly enthusiastic regarding its future possibilities.

NANTASKET NEWS NOTES

Miss Vera McKinnon of Somerville, a former classmate of Miss Alice Sweeney at Roxbury Notre Dame was her guest over the week-end and attended the whist party held at the home of Mrs. Rose Flood.

Miss Agnes Smith, who has been stopping with the Misses Hobbs in Boston, is now at home.

Mrs. Flood has been entertaining her niece, the three Misses Kelly. They are charming young ladies.

Mr. Henry Dobbins, Jr., was the weekend guest of Dr. John G. Sweeney.

Mrs. George Blaisdell spent a few days in Plymouth with relatives the past week.

Mrs. Foster Gardner and Mrs. James Joyce, visited Mrs. Fallon in Hingham on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George McKay are convalescing from pneumonia. All wish them a speedy recovery.

Mr. Carl Mundy has been very ill at his home on Rockland Terrace.

Mrs. John E. Campbell and Mrs. Worthen were both in town the past week to attend the Parent and Teachers' meeting.

Master Russell Burns is attending Mechanic Arts High School and is staying with his aunt, returning home weekends.

The Christmas tree and entertainment given at the Damon School on Thursday evening, Dec. 19, by the Social Centre, Mrs. J. E. Campbell, director, and by the teachers of the school, was most interesting.

After singing and speaking of pieces of appropriate nature by the children, Mrs. Florence Coad Gale, one of the most pleasing of readers, told the children many charming stories, Christmas and humorous. Mrs. Gale is the story teller at Jordan & Marsh store during the holiday season, and much credit is due Mrs. Campbell in securing her. The parents of the children attended. A pretty feature and one which showed the excellent training of the children by parents and teachers, was when the children filed up, shook hands with Mrs. Gale, and thanked her, she wishing her a Merry Christmas. The exercises closed with salute to the flag.

Miss M. E. Walsh's postcard from Tarpon Inn, Tarpon Springs, Florida. Kindly send East Wind to me at address. Have taken a position there for winter. Your paper travels many miles, must have it.

Mrs. M. E. Wilson, who intended to make her home at Nantasket for the winter will take an apartment in Boston, now that the war is ended, so as to make a home for her brothers who are in the service, but who will shortly return. In fact, Frank L. Quinlan has returned and was at Hoboken. Another brother, Corp. Joseph Quinlan of the 101st Signal Corps, is in a rest camp in France. He writes of a trip to the foot of the Alps, and has sent home some wonderful pictures.

It is stated that again word received by Mrs. Cunningham says she is constantly ill.

There has recently been a batch of kittens born at the Oakland House that are remarkable in that two of the six were pure white, and two were black. Mrs. Wilson is the proud possessor of one of the white ones, which she took when very young and brought up on cow's milk by bottle.

Sorgt. Samuel Cohen has been released from the army, and with Mrs. Cohen will take up his residence in Boston.

Miss Susie Snow was the guest of her parents, Captain and Mrs. Harrison Snow, recently. Miss Snow expected to spend Christmas with them, but was called away because of the prevalence of influenza in the city where she resides. She is a dietitian and was called to take charge of the food supply at the hospital.

Everybody was glad to see Victor Reynolds home for Christmas. He has not yet been released, being instructor in Camp. He and Mrs. Reynolds were the guests of Chief and Mrs. Frank Reynolds.

Being Christmas week, the regular meeting of the Whist Club was omitted. Nearly everyone at Nantasket kept "open house" Christmas day, and much good cheer was disseminated.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges and family are remaining here for the winter. Mr. Hodges has gasoline for sale.

We are sorry to state that Mr. William Bacon and little family are ill with influenza.

Quite a number of the children, including Bobby Kelley, Marjorie Smith and Louis Gardner are also ill with influenza, but are convalescing. Louis was able to sit up and eat Christmas dinner.

Dr. John G. Sweeney and Miss Alice Sweeney took Christmas dinner with their parents.

Mrs. Michael Burns of the Oakland House will entertain Mrs. McTiernan and Mrs. Minister this week-end.

The Misses Allene and Margaret Burns will spend part of the holiday season with their aunt, Mrs. William Ronyman at her Back Bay home. Mrs. Burns always gives the children a Christmas tree on the eve.

It is said in real estate circles that there are indications of a big boom this season, both in sales and renting.

Ask Mr. Collins, the well known and popular driver of the Centre Hill Auto Engine what he thinks of lone females who get stalled at 2 G. M. and wake him up to get them out of their difficulties. George is good natured, there is no doubt about that.

Mrs. Webster Mitchell was one of the shoppers who was satisfied with shopping in Rockland and Hingham.

The trade at home alone of the Hull East Wind has become popular. Many people home their Christmas shopping in town and in nearby towns.

The word "clove" has come down from the French word "clove" which means a nail, because of the resemblance between the red and white flowers which the word clove denotes. A nail

LIGHT FARMING CURES SHELL SHOCK VICTIMS

The Base Hospitals of Europe, where American boys as well as the boys of our allies are recuperating, have decided that the men who are yet unable to fight, or to go back to their places in the ranks, may gain health and strength while tilling the soil, and incidentally may add many tons of vegetables to the necessary food supplies.

Ten expert market gardeners from this country have been sent to France to direct the work, as it has been found that this farm labor is one of the best restoratives of health, and also that there is no better work for those suffering from shell shock than this out-of-doors activity. Many soldiers who have worked at the farms announce that they intend to buy farms and continue on their return from France.

In addition to the helpful exercises the tables are helped, and in one hospital there has been green corn on the cob served as a result of the soldier farming. Green corn is not common in France, but it certainly pleased the men who were fortunate enough to get some of it. And the American boys—well just imagine an American seeing green corn on the cob when he didn't expect there was such a delicacy nearer than the old U. S. A.

More than two tons of vegetables were grown at Base Hospital No. 6 in less than three months. Peas, potatoes, beans, radishes, lettuce and corn, and the soldiers declare that there is nothing like the taste of these American vegetables grown in the gardens of the hospitals.

TUBERCULOSIS FIGHTERS JOIN WITH RED CROSS

Fifteen hundred anti-tuberculosis associations in every state in the Union have set aside their ordinary work and are giving their time and attention during the next month to the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call, according to an announcement from the headquarters of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Instead of the usual sale of Red Cross Eggs which has been conducted for the last ten years jointly by the National Tuberculosis Association and the American Red Cross, this coming year the tuberculosis movement will be supported by a direct appropriation of $2,500,000 from the Red Cross, and in turn all of the machinery of the tuberculosis campaign will be turned into helping swell the membership of the American Red Cross in an effort to enroll every man and woman in the country.

In every state there is a well organized state organization and under it there are strong local branches. These trained workers will co-operate with the Red Cross chapters in their community and will endeavor to organize their districts so that no one can escape solicitation. Universal membership in the Red Cross will be the aim.

BE SURE TO SHOW YOUR RED CROSS BUTTON

Who hides his flag on Fourth of July? Who fails to rise to the Star Spangled Banner? Why do we wave flags, and why do we rise? Because we human beings demand a sign. The Indians exchanged wampum when they met and swore friendship. The Greeks of old sent presents of earth and water to their correspondents. When a letter failed to come, we all think that the friend has forgotten us. Now who wishes his fellows to think that he has forgotten that this is a world where kindness and love are welcome?

We may feel well disposed toward the Red Cross and keep our button tucked away under a lapel somewhere where no one can see—and who knows that we are not traitors to the lads who have been through hell in Europe to keep us safe? When a man has a stolen purse he hides it in an inside pocket, and he sneaks down a back alley when he can. But those of us who belong to the Red Cross—and who will not belong when Christmas arrives—we who belong must show our colors, must wear the button, must say to our friends, "Yes, I'm with you for a world of safety and peace and kindness and love!"

It's the same beloved red of service, such as brings before the shrine the white of purity, and the blue of constancy. Where is the better cause? Where the better service? Where a badge to be prouder of? On with the button when the campaign opens, next week. Let the Red Cross not be denied!

PEACE MAKES GREATER NEED

Peace will not end the need of Red Cross relief work. On the contrary the proclaiming of peace opens new fields of service for the Red Cross, and now, more than ever, the American people will be called upon to obey their generous impulses to find aid for the world's wounded.

Membership in the Red Cross affords the noblest outlet for civic interest. Every American should answer "Here" in the Christmas Roll Call.

COPELEY THEATRE.

"The Bear-Leaders," a comedy by C. Carton, the famous English dramatist, is being given during the coming week by the Henry Jewett Players of the Copley Theatre for its first production on the American stage. Its production will be an event, for Mr. Carton has written many successful plays that are notable for their entertaining plot, the lively wit of their dialogue, and the ample of a recently deceased dramatist.

The plot of "The Bear-Leaders" is based on an entirely original idea of the dramatist's. Improving on the ample of the impoverished English nobility who add to their income by introducing rich people into a society they could not otherwise reach, Mrs. Stanhope Molyneux varies her scheme by polishing the manners of young men and of teaching them to behave themselves into fashionable circles. When the play opens, Molyneux are on the point of resigning from this business, having received a bequest of a fortune by the death of a recently deceased nobleman. But unhappily it will not be so, and they are obliged to return to their task and to undertake the socializing of Edward Petworth, a young man who suddenly finds himself heir to a dukedom. They also take under the wing the granddaughter of a countess who is the sworn enemy of the duke to whom the young man is heir.

Thus begins a highly amusing play that is filled with satirical humor, English social life. For the cast at the Copley, Mr. Wingfield and Miss Molyneux will play the impecunious duke who give the play its title, and Mr. Stanhope and Miss Molyneux will play the duke's son and daughter. The play is a fine performance, the cast including the entire company. There will be a special New Year's holiday matinee on Wednesday.

CASTLE SQUARE.

"Romance," one of the most successful of modern plays, will be acted at the Castle Square Stock Company next week. Its author is Edward Shirlton, who has contributed several highly popular plays to the American stage. The most notable achievement of "Romance" is its unimpaired run of three seasons in London. It comes to the Castle Square for its first production in Boston by a stock company. It is divided into a prologue, three acts and an epilogue. In the prologue the audience is told about a clergyman, and the nephew of a shop who is engaged to an actress. While demonstrating with the boy, the shop acknowledges that there was once a play begun, and the play begins.

The play begins in a New York house in lower Manhattan, and the dialogue is in progress. A reception in which the clergyman who is to become a bishop, is one of the guests. There too, entertaining the assembly, is a famous opera singer, whom the young clergyman meets as he falls in love with. The growth of the affection of the two for each other, and the confessions of the woman when she discovers that she is really deeply in love with the minister make up the substance of the next two acts. The epilogue brings the story back to the present.

All the details of its production will be under the direction of William Mason, and the part of Thomas, a strong, rector of St. Giles, will be acted by Dudley Ayres, with Miss MacDonald as Miss Margaret Cavell in the opera singer.

HARRY LAUDER.

Will Be Heard for One Big Week at the Boston Opera House.

Harry Lauder, who has been aptly called "the World's greatest individual entertainer," will be at the Boston Opera House for a week, beginning Monday evening, December 23. There will be matinee Christmas, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The return of Lauder to Boston will be a pleasant surprise to his multitude of admirers.

For this tour Lauder has written a number of new songs. One of these, composed on the Mauritania, on which Lauder crossed with the returning American soldier, has already made a popular hit. Its sentiment is revealed in the couplet:

"Don't let us sing any more of war, But just let us sing of love!"

Among his other new songs are "Back, Back to Where the Heather Grows," "When I Was Twenty-One," "There is Somebody Waiting for Me," and "We All Go Home the Same Way." He will also revive some of the old favorites that have become associated with his name and never lose their flavor for American audiences. Lauder will be assisted by his own company of entertainers, and of course, a kilt band of Scotch pipers.

Lauder has recently come from the battle front in France, where he carried cheer and encouragement to Tommies and Yanks by his droll songs and his heart-to-heart talks.

LOMBARDI, LTD.

Coming to the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, Next Monday, Dec. 23rd.

Frederic and Patsy Hutton's famous fun and fashion sketches "Lombardi, Ltd." with Leo Carrillo and the entire original New York cast is one of the best-selling new attractions coming to Boston. This comedy will be presented at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, next week beginning Monday, December 23rd, by Officer Morosco for whom it has proved quite as substantial a laughing success as its well-remembered "Big O My Heart," "Lombardi, Ltd." or supplied at the stage of the Morosco Theatre all last season and proved one of the four plays that succeeded in establishing a full season's record in New York.

The Huttons have provided the native stage with many comedy successes during recent years, but "Lombardi, Ltd." has unquestionably proved the best comedy effort of these prolific writers.

In the title role Leo Carrillo was credited with one of the biggest personal successes scored on a New York stage in recent years, while he is ably supported by all of the original cast including Grace Valentine, Warner Baxter, Marion Abbott, Winifred Bryson, Hailam Bosworth, Ina Rorke, Mary Kennedy, Harold Russell, Helen Wolcott, Jane Meredith, Charles Wellesley and all of the others who appeared throughout the New York run. Special matinee performance "Lombardi, Ltd." will be given on Christmas and New Year's Day.

"OH, MAMA!"

("The Victory Girl" Re-named) Coming to the Shubert-Wilbur Theatre, Monday, Dec. 23.

In these days of tremendous world events, the demand is clearly for the lightest form of entertainment, with plenty of youth, beauty, gaiety and chiffo. The Messrs. Shubert, who keep their managerial ear turned attentively toward the public, have made another important success in delivering "what the public really wants" in their very latest musical comedy entitled "Oh, Mama!" which will be presented at the Wilbur Theatre, December twenty-third as the specially chosen Christmas attraction.

It is a piece in the up-to-date mode of comedy with music and girls. Its settings are charming in color and design; its costumes are ravishing.

The most important human element has been attended to with unusual care. There are four featured players, to wit: Justine Johnston, the famous beauty; Frank Fay a new discovery in comedians and the old favorite, Harry Conor.

The story is a happy, frolicsome one and relates to the adventures of Betty, an American girl in Paris—the Paris of ante-bellum days. Betty goes to Paris for finishing touches in the line of education. Though some mistake or other, her uncle fails to meet her at the railway station, where she is discovered in distress by a rich American boy whose father has sent him to Oxford. As Betty's family is all mixed up in marriage and divorce, she is unable to remember whether her uncle's name is Black or Brown or Green, though certain it is one of the three. Until she can untangle her color scheme the young American escorts her to a fashionable hotel.

It turns out that Mr. Green, Betty's sought for uncle, has divorced his wife and is not immediately aware that she is in Paris with her second husband, his second wife. That he is missing the pair with alimony supposed to ease on the remarriage of the former Mrs. Green. All parties become involved in a curious and side-splitting financial tangle which Mrs. Green's second husband—a pugilist, manages to straighten out. Seals are now on sale.

"What Matters the Road?" Now and then in Brittany one sees an East Indian, lithe as a panther, peering in at the open door of a cathedral with wistful interest. As Krishna said many hundreds of years ago: "What matters the road if it leads to God?"—Nina Larrey Duryea in Harper's Magazine.

Gosh! While a Toledo man was shooting bedbugs in his room, a buller placed and wounded his roommate. We have roomed in other towns where you had to go after the bedbugs with a hammer or a baseball bat, but we'd hate to room in Toledo, where you have to go after 'em with a gun.

Unpalatable Ship "Bread." In grandfather's day a ship took on her supply of bread for a voyage in sacks before leaving home. This supply had to last until the end of the voyage, though that might be a year or two. The bread was in the form of hard loaves. It kept fairly well when dry, but often it got damp and moldy, or wormy.

All Called On to Show Courage. Whatever your sex or position, life is a battle in which you are to show your pluck; and you be to the coward! Whether passed on a bed of sickness or a tented field, it is ever the same fair play and admits no foolish distinctions. Despair and postponement are cowardice and defeat. Men were born to succeed, not to fail.—Thoreau.

Nets for Smugglers. A curious method of preventing smuggling instituted by the Italian government is the fixing of a metallic net along the length of the Swiss frontier. The net is of five-mesh steel wire about nine feet high, and there are gateways at different points.

"Ponz." Pone is a word of Indian derivation and an early English historian of Virginia took pains to explain that it was taken from the Latin penis, meaning bread, but from the red Indian word of pone, and it was early applied in the south to any bread made of Indian corn.

Mark of the Beast. It is most true that a natural and evil hatred and aversion toward society in any man, hath somewhat of the savage beast.—Bacon.

Well, Many Don't Seem to Have. Robert was a thoughtful child as was used to reasoning out the "why" to his own questions. One day a boy came in from next door. He asked questions continually and Robert looked at him curiously and said: "Haven't you a think of your own?"

The People's Might.

The feudal system, like other systems of past ages, is kept only by the rubbish it has left behind. It is crowned heads have been compelled to submit to the restraints of law, and the people, with that intelligence which makes the voice resistent, have been able to say to the prerogative: "Thus far shalt thou come and no farther."—Daniel Webster.

Cork. The outer spongy bark of the oak, which grows in the south of France and Spain, constitutes the substance known as cork. This outer bark is periodically stripped off the tree, soaked for a time in water, and the surface subsequently charred to close the pores.

Rank Discrimination. Under a New York ordinance a scissors-grinder is not allowed to blow his horn. If he wishes to blow his horn he must abandon his calling and go upon the stage or into politics or society.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HINGHAM HAPPENINGS

Miss Elizabeth A. Osborne, daughter of Mrs. Timothy Osborne of Hersey street, passed away after a short illness from bronchial pneumonia. Funeral was held at St. Paul's Church.

John Moore who was one of the oldest residents of Hingham, passed away at the home of his son on Elm street. Mr. Moore was in his 82nd year.

Mrs. Henry A. Miles of Hingham, who is spending the winter at Forest Glen, Maryland, passed her 93d birthday last week. She was happily remembered by many Hingham friends.

On the third Monday of each month the "Woman's Guild" will hold its meetings at St. John's Episcopal Parish House. At present the work of the meetings will be for Italian Relief.

James M. Kelley, who has been in the hospital in France was among the arrivals at Hoboken, N. J., last week.

Large numbers are in attendance at the whist parties held by Saint Paul's Parish at Guild Hall.

Sergeant Bertie F. Berry has received his honorable discharge from Camp Devens, and came home last week.

Lieut. Gilbert W. Rich expects his honorable discharge from the regular army this week, when he will return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. W. Rich.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Cain of West Somerville are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a little girl, born recently. Arthur is the son of alphonso Cain and formerly lived in Hingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan and daughter of Portsmouth, Va., formerly of Hingham, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lincoln, Beal street, recently.

Mr. George Wilson, who has been caretaker for the Wompatuck Club for many years, has left to engage in outside duties. Mr. Eugene B. Gardner has taken his place.

Hugh Smith, who has been stationed in Virginia, has received his discharge from the Navy, and is expected home soon.

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, which notified the Selectmen of the town that they will name a 1500 ton cargo ship "Hingham" in honor of the town and ask that the town select a sponsor for the launching. The town's people will be invited to attend. The ship will be built at the Fore River yards.

The Marines Christmas tree at the barracks, which was held on Monday evening, Dec. 23d, was a pleasant affair. Mrs. McDonald and Miss Mary James had charge.

A "the dancant" will be held New Year's afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at the Red Cross Tea Rooms.

COHASSET COSY CHATS

No news from Cohasset. Don't know what is the matter with the C. C., but fear that it may be the illness of her uncle, which has prevented her from sending in news.

NORTH COHASSET. It was noted that we would have a picture of Sgt. R. R. Beal, son of Officer and Mrs. Sidney Beal, and a letter this week, but owing to Wednesday being Christmas, the cut of the picture did not get made in time, but we will have it in next week, together with a very interesting letter to his dad. There is a treat in store for our readers.

It has been stated that Sgt. Albin Bjorkman has been brought home, but we could not verify the statement, before going to press. We rejoice with his parents and many friends, if it is true. It will be remembered that he was at Hoboken, N. J., where he was brought from France, badly wounded.

The Christmas concert and exercises at the Episcopal Church on Sunday were a credit to the excellence of the choir. The Christmas tree at the Pope Memorial Church on Monday evening was a pretty and social affair. The writer can vouch for the excellence of the home-made candy with which the pretty Christmas cornucopias were filled. The M. E. Church will observe the Centenary evangelistic campaign, which will begin with a watch night service on New Year's eve, and will carry out the plans laid down by the Joint Centenary committee.

The Kangaroo Industry. In Australia kangaroo farming is an important industry. The hides are valuable and the tendons extremely fine; indeed, they are the best known to surgeons for sewing up wounds, and especially for holding broken bones together, being much finer and tougher than catgut, which is used extensively.

Pudding in History. Pudding in its early form was made of minced meat of some sort, well seasoned and stuffed into an intestine, and then cooked by boiling. There are words in many early languages meaning pudding, but it seems originally to have come from some word meaning a short body or inflated skin.

Moderation Best Policy. To keep up a nice balance of work and wear, and to come out a little ahead each day, is good religion. No man has any right to wear himself out.—Dr. Kellogg.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES WARNING

Increase in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months. How to Guard Against Pneumonia. Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "has taught by bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General likened the present situation to that after a great fire, saying, "No fire chief who understands his business stops playing the hose on the charred debris as soon as the flames and visible fire have disappeared. On the contrary, he continues the water for hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers."

"Then you fear another outbreak of influenza?" he was asked. "Not necessarily another large epidemic," said the Surgeon General, "but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases."

Common Colds Highly Catching. "It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn that ordinary coughs and colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are sprayed into the air when careless or ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases (coughs, colds, pneumonia, etc.) are infrequent; in the fall, as people begin to remain indoors, the respiratory diseases increase; in the winter, when people are prone to stay in badly ventilated, overheated rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent."

Suitable Clothing Important. "Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing during the seasons when the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice."

Could Save 100,000 Lives. "I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States if all the people would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures. "The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster exemplifies the modern method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official dry but scientifically accurate bulletin teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already knew all about the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."

Colds, influenza, pneumonia, and tuberculosis are spread this way. Copies of this poster can be obtained free of charge by writing to the Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C.

Hard to Explain. Has it ever been fully explained why it is that a man on a cold, raw day will sit four hours uncomplainingly on a hard board in a rowboat and hold a fish pole, yet squirm and fidget and fume if he is asked to sit more than an hour and fifteen minutes on a cushioned seat in a well-warmed church?

NEW YEAR BELLS
Custom of Ringing them Originated in the Diast.
Believed to Have Been First Used About 400 A. D.—Chinese Thought to Be Possessed of Supernatural Power.

ALWAYS, everywhere, our land, we look to the ringing of bells to announce the dawn of the old year and the birth of the new. Not until we actually hear the bells ringing from the church steeples, or below, do we really turn to each other and exclaim "Happy New Year!"

All of which brings us to the question of why people ring bells. They seem to have figured in the life of man way, way back in the dim and distant years. And they have been used to convey messages to various sorts to those within sound of their alarm.

Among the ancient Greeks those who made the nightly rounds of the camps and garrisons used to ring a bell at each sentinel box to make sure that the soldier on duty was awake. They also put bells on the necks of criminals to warn the people to avoid them. The Romans used bells to announce the hour of the bells.

It is believed that bells were first used in churches about 400 years after the birth of Christ. And by the fifth century they were in common use in churches all over Europe. Most of these, however, were hand bells made of thin plates of hammered iron bent into a four-sided shape and fastened with rivets and bronzed. Then gradually, as people began to hang the bells in steeples and belfries, they became larger.

In 1734 a huge bell was cast in Moscow, Russia. It is over twenty-one feet in height and diameter and weighs 133 tons. The largest bell in America is in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, at Montreal, and weighs 29,400 pounds.

In all ages and all countries, the material most used in the manufacture of bells has been a mixture of two parts of copper to one of tin, called bronze. At present about the same use of copper are used to make of tin. Bells have been made of iron, steel, gold, silver, brass and even glass, though when made of glass they have been found too fragile for practical use.

Back in the old days, the people believed that bells possessed supernatural power by ringing them at certain times, they believed, storms, pestilence and famine could be averted.

THE NEW YEAR.
The New Year—where it leads and whom concerning
We cannot see.
We scan the path and full our hearts of yearning
And realize
What will it yield, this lane of sudden turning
To you and me?
Grant we may find our share of sunlight streaming
Come tears—come mirth;
Where faith in man shall make life's good deeds seeming
Of noble worth;
Give days our toil and give our night sweet dreaming
God of the earth.
Give us the heart to tread this way, not knowing
A vale or height;
Give us cheer that God, his grace bestowing,
May guide us right;
Grant we may love the others with us going—
Old Year—Good-Night!
—Edith Livingston Smith, in Wisconsin Agriculturist.

NATURE SETS GOOD EXAMPLE
Discard Things That Hinder and Retain Only That Which is Helpful at Dawn of New Year.
Once again the New Year opens its door for us to enter in. The old year is leaving us. And if we are wise we will let him take with him all the impediments that has handicapped us during his reign. We will dismiss the old mistakes and troubles and grudges, and entering blithely into the New Year, we will begin all over again.

Mother nature has set us an example which we will do well to follow. All the good golden grain, the ripe fruits and all other precious gifts she has permitted us to garner and retain. And then she proceeded to do away with the rubbish. She put her spell upon it and it withered and died, was plowed under, and became the needful fertilizer for another year.

And so all the good and sweet and beautiful things that the old year has given us we are permitted to keep. We may hold onto our successes, our helpful experiences, our beautiful memories and the new friendships which have come to us as the gift of the old year, and let go of all the rubbish that might hinder our endeavor in the year that is just opening its door into new and untold ways.

Let us cast off our old garments of doubt and disappointment and failure, and put on the shining garments of hope and faith and courage. Let us draw out all the undreamed of sources within us for a broader outlook, a more determined endeavor and greater accomplishment. Let us possess ourselves of higher ideals of life and its privileges and responsibilities, and a determination to live up to the best there is in us during the days of the coming year. And above all, let us hold fast to our faith in the goodness of God, for so shall we be enabled to go forward, hopeful and unafraid into the unknown and untold ways of the New Year.

THE LOST CHANCES
Illustration of a man looking at a calendar for January 1st.

Whenever I am starting out Upon a fresh new year I always stop to think about The one no longer here, The year that's dead I travel back And let my memory run In contemplation through the stack Of things I could have done.

I check the deeds I meant to do With those I did, and find That I neglected quite a few Real chances to be kind. I learn the words I mean to say To comfort and to cheer, And yet postponed them for a day. I didn't speak that year.

And then to my disgrace I find That had I paused to smile And do those little actions kind I'd not have lost a mile. I learn now that the chance has gone That I have missed a lot, For all those deeds I could have done As easily as not.

And when at last life is through And all my course is run, In deep regret I shall review The deeds I could have done. And I shall wish I had to tell Where nothing may be hid The many things I could as well Have done, yet never did.

AMONG NEW YEAR'S RICHES
Trials and Suffering a Part of Rich Heritage God Gives to Each of His Children.
Part of the rich heritage that God has planned for you in the New Year is suffering. He will permit in the life of each child of his a portion—just the right portion—of difficulty and trial and temptation. What we see in those trials and temptations will largely determine the riches that will be ours in this year. A Christian woman, recently wrote to a friend: "Every time it would be to go out in the opening year so yielded that every fresh circumstance or trial or temptation would prove to have the sweet face of Christ concealed in it, of bursting like a flood of glory through our rifts in the cloud and fling with radiance our uplifted faces; so that each new obedience should be but the parting of the curtain, ushering us into new wonders and experiences of his inexhaustible riches and fullness. Old things would then be continually passing away, all things constantly becoming new."

What glories of abounding grace—at the worst Satan can do against the child of God in this New Year—riches a fresh opportunity for God to pour out the treasures of his speakable gift! The promise to supply every need of ours "according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus" is not a promise for the life to come, when all sorrow and sickness and temptation to evil will be at an end, but it is a promise made in full view of every trial and temptation that we shall meet today. Let us then count it all joy when we fall into our afflictions and trials, confidently remembering that along with each of them we have—Jesus.

Making a New Year.
The virtue of a New Year is not in its change of name. The first days of January are so exactly like the last days of December that we have to make a conscious and continued effort to write the proper date on our letters. If this is to be a New Year indeed, we must make it so ourselves, putting into it new hopes and ambitions, new resolutions and effect. The virtue of the New Year is in the new aspiration and persistence we bring to it.

Make Several.
One good New Year resolution deserves another.

AT TURN OF ROAD

Beginning of New Year Good

Time for Retrospection.

Inspiration for All of Us in Realiza tion That Things Which Worried

and Saddened Were Only

Trifles.

By WM. GEORGE JORDAN.

THE beginning of the new year is a natural, sharp turn in the road of time. Here we may wisely rest a while, and in the peace and quiet and calm of self-communion see the long stretch of the road of a single twelvemonth. It is built imperish ably of short steps of living—from mo ment to moment.

Many of the purposes for which we labored and struggled, in our narrow,

close, selfish absorption, seen poor, petty and puny when seen from the turn of the road. The structure of some effort we thought marvellous now is shown in its sickening sham as a hasty affair of show and pretense, made of stuff that could not stand the wear and tear and test of time. It was not built on square lines of character, of the best that was in us. It lacked strength, sincerity, simplicity. The ma terial was made up of policy and self ishness put together on hurried plans.

It was a failure; it cannot be rebuilt;

but it is worth only a passing regret and a realization of the lesson of its condemnation—at the turn of the road.

The look backward from the turn of the road should inspire us by making vid to us how much of what we feared never came to pass. The tyranny of worry, that dominated us and held us for months trembling slaves to a weak fear, that dissipated our energy, dulled our thinking, and darkened our mental vision, at the very hours that should have given us fullest control of our best, is now seen as an enemy to true individual growth. It means a harder fight in the unending battle against worry and grief.

The broader view of life reveals that the only great things in life are trifles;

that what pained us most, saddened

our hearts, and turned our hopes to ashes were only trifles—accumulating in to overwhelming importance. A cruel word, an unkindness, a little misun derstanding may darken a day and sep arate us from one we love or may pet rify us into a mood of doubt and de spondency. The most joyous moments of life, the high lights in the pictures of memory, may too be only trifles of kindness, the expressions of love, sim ple tributes of confidence and trust that make the very heart smile—as we remember.

Nature is constantly giving us new turns of the road. It may be a birth day or some general anniversary in the cycle of the year. It may be some re freshing day in the private calendar of our emotions or some date eloquent to us as telling of some joyous "first" or some pathetic "last" time in the sacred diary of the heart. It may be a supreme sorrow, an agonizing sense of loss, the coming of a great joy, the closing of some epoch in our lives, the proving of the actuality of something too aw ful for us even to have feared, some con stant half-hour that changes irrevocably

all our living. These and numberless other days, hours or single moments may bring us alone to—the turn of road.

Then may come one of those moments of life, of fine spiritual illumination, of luminous revelation coming to one's highest self, when worldly, the mean, the temporary, the selfish are stripped in an instant of their garish shams and tinsel. In the real, the true, the eternal stand in their majesty, bathed in the splen dor and glow of the revealing of truth, such a spirit the very verge of the spiritual of the infinite fills us, as beorn born again to new, better greater things, for we have seen divine vision—at the turn of the EXPEDIENCY.

To the New Year

By PATIENCE WORTH

We part, oh, comrades, reluctantly;

Long have we trod the winding way,

Troubled, clouded, gray—

Aye the shadows of the way.

Adieu! We part, oh, comrades! Adieu!

Upon thy way I see thee going,

Bent low, near thy burden;

Weighted, bowed, tired, plodding;

Heavy footed upon thy narrow path.

What hand shall welcome thee?

Adieu, oh, comrades! We part—

Thou upon thy way and I upon mine.

I have seen the brothers slain;

I have watched the eyes streaming;

I have seen the stop upon thy way

To stanch some bleeding thing;

Smiling wisely, bending tenderly.

But thou art wary now—

Bent and weary. Thy steps

Are stepped not falteringly.

Adieu! With thee upon thy path,

Oh, wilt thou take the memory

Of my hand—thine—the touch

Of one brother upon the other's flesh?

Oh, wilt thou then turn

And smile back one smile of fellow ship?

I see my old form sink low.

I would I then thee, save of my love!

Nor would I hang upon thy brow

A garland of glowing green

That flash scarlet bud

Nay, 'twould be as a skull

Wreathed, if victor's laurel—

A fellow on upon thy most venerable bro!

Adieu, oh, comrades! Upon thy path!

The year that come are beckoning me;

But I shall recall thy burdens.

GOOD RESOLVES FOR WOMEN

Suggestions Pertinent to New Year

That Will Make Home More

Cheerful and Comfortable.

So many people, in making their New

Year resolutions think only of their diets, their characters, and their pocketbooks. Their homes, which directly or indirectly influence all these things, are dissociated in their minds with anything pertaining to the New Year and the fresh page that is just turning over. But when each woman stops to think that her home may be made so attractive that her memorials, without knowing the reason,

will want to spend their evenings

there; that her children will grow up with higher ideals, and will always keep a beautiful memory of what home means; that she herself will walk with her head well up, and her shoulders back, as she sallies forth to take her place in the world of men, knowing in her heart that her home is as it should be—since home is such a sacred place, shall we not include the word in the list of our desires and strivings? Shall we not resolve to make it worthy of our life and love?

Have you a chair that squeaks as you sit down upon it? Why not mend it? Have you mended that ripped hem in your couch cover? Have you tacked down that loose place in your hall car pet? Are you not tired of looking at your pillows which need recovering?

When are you going to get at clean ing off that smoky place on your ceil ing? Little repairs like those work wonders in the home. Why not get at them this next week?

Have you a room which does not please you? Why not experiment with the furniture and see if you cannot place it to greater advantage, or so that it will give greater comfort? Of ten the arrangement of a room is re sponsible for its lack of charm.

Does your woodwork need re painting? Why not start to paint it a little at a time? In so doing the time spent is never misused and wet paint in small areas is easier to steer around.

Have you too many ornaments in your house? Why not pack some of them carefully away, and see how you like doing without them? Your rooms would be happier.

Start Life Anew.

If your life was not what it should

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to do to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

ADVERTISE IN This Paper

ALLERTON HAPPIER

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant and Newton were present at the reception given the Grand Master and Grand Conductor of the I. O. O. F. at Mount Pleasant Lodge No. 176 at Dorchester last Thursday evening.

The number of houses illuminated all over this section of the town in celebration of Christmas and Christmas eve made a pretty picture. Several of the summer residents at Allerton and Bay-side were down and spent the holiday, opening their homes for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Wanser and Mrs. Graham entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant and Newton at the latter's home, where the Wansers are now domiciled.

The writer had the pleasure on Christmas eve of calling upon John Oscar Mitchell, the young son of the late Sgt. Oscar and Mrs. Mitchell, and found him a big boy with wonderful powers of observation. He is the image of his grandfather, John L. Mitchell, who by the way, is extremely fond of the bright little fellow. John Oscar was the recipient of many gifts, all of which he duly noticed. A feature which made pleasant the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell on Christmas was the presence of Mrs. Oscar and the baby, and also that of Priv. Fred L. Mitchell, who will have until New Year's. Fred was cordially welcomed by all his old friends.

Mrs. Crafts has not returned to Allerton yet, but is recovering from her recent illness. Louis Crafts, her son, who was gassed, is much better. Another son, Addison, has been again promoted, and is now Major Crafts. He has been transferred to the 303rd Signal Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Cahalan had a beautiful Christmas tree, lighted with red, white and blue electric lights. Children and friends enjoyed it with them. They kept open house, and their hospitality was unbounded. The house was lighted by the Christmas candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleck and family celebrated Christmas in a pleasant manner. In the evening they attended the tree and entertainment at Mr. and Mrs. Bryant's.

Mr. Francis Cleverly and his grandson Sgt. Frederic Vogel, are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Cleverly since the death of Mrs. Isadore Vogel. Frederic was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. McLaren on Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rudderham, following their usual custom, had their house decorated and illuminated with candles during the Christmas season. Two of the soldier boys who could not get home were their guests at dinner, and expressed warm appreciation of the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Rudderham.

Dr. and Mrs. James Overman and family spent Christmas as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Kempton. Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Kempton are sisters.

Miss Ruth Lyon, one of the popular girls of the summer colony at Pemberton, a first-class yeowoman in the service, is spending her Christmas vacation with friends at Daytona, Florida. She is being royally entertained with true Southern hospitality. Touring the state by automobile is one of the pleasant episodes of the trip.

Privt. Adrian Dowd has been honorably discharged from the service, and is at home with his parents. He was embarked for overseas when influenza broke out, and all the boys were put in a quarantine camp. He says his experience in the army has taught him many things, and made him more physically fit.

There was much disappointment that the Community Christmas tree had to be called off. Miss Ayer who had influenza had only a light form of the malady, and recovered sufficiently to return to her home for Christmas, it is said.

Mrs. Minnie Foster and daughter, Miss Pauline Foster, spent Christmas at their home in Hull, the first time for several years that they have had that pleasure.

The services last Sunday at the M. E. Church were all in line with Christmas. In the morning there was a special Christmas singing by a chorus of voices and in the evening the usual concert by the Sunday School, with special Christmas music by the choir and chorus. Rev. Kingston was at his best. There was a large attendance.

The result of the Red Cross Christmas Roll-call is not yet definitely known, but a conservative estimate puts Hull well over the top.

The little daughter of Mrs. Mark Damon who was reported ill with scarlet fever is recovering rapidly.

Attention is called to the public hearing of the Hull Committee on Disposal of Garbage, notice of which is given in another column of this paper.

Privt. Martin Murray, formerly driver of the auto fire engine at Weyland, has been honorably discharged from the army and is at home. Welcome, "Red."

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Derby entertained on Christmas day. Their cottage which is beautifully and artistically furnished was appropriately decorated and lighted.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryant gave a Christmas dinner party to which twelve people were invited. It was a sumptuous feast. In the evening there was a Christmas tree to which all the neighbors were invited. Santa Claus came and distributed such a large number of Christmas presents. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleck and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerr and family, Mrs. Jessie Hunt and daughter, Miss George Martin, Mr. E. L. Jenkins and daughter, Miss Grace Jenkins, Mrs. E. J. Blevins, Mrs. Noren and daughter. Ice cream and cake was served in the evening and little Miss Noren entertained with song and recitation.

Thursday—snow storm.

Those who know the gentle nature of Mr. John E. Bocklerken sympathize with him very deeply in the accident which occurred on Christmas night.

Mrs. Clara B. Weston will very soon commence the work of remodeling into four modern and beautiful apartments the stable which she acquired at the time she purchased Knight's Express. The plans drawn by her son Mr. E. B. Weston, architect, are most attractive.

PEACE ADDS TO U. S. FOOD TASK

Europe Needs Nearly Double Last Year's Supplies From America.

ECONOMY MUST CONTINUE.

World Survey Shows Sufficient Wheat, But Shortage of Fats—Government's Stimulative Program Justified.

With the return of peace America is confronted by a food problem even harder of solution than that with which we coped in time of war. We have an entirely new world situation in food. It will mean essential changes in our domestic program. But more important than this, it must of necessity require increased export.

Last year we shipped 11,820,000 tons of foodstuffs to the European Allies. Had the war continued we would have increased this enormous figure to 17,550,000 tons in the present year. Now, with the responsibility of feeding millions of people liberated from the German yoke, our exports must be brought up to at least 20,000,000 tons—practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports.

World Food Demand Increased.

The end of the war will create an enormously increased demand for food. Humanity demands that the starving millions freed from Prussian oppression shall have sufficient supplies to assure their return to health and prosperity. If these liberated nations are faced with starvation they cannot establish orderly governments. Hunger breeds anarchy in people. The war to free the world for democracy will be lost after it has been won, America must continue its work to liberate and by sharing its food make democracy safe in the world.

In order to meet this new situation the Food Administration has made a careful survey of the food resources of the whole world in relation to the total demands. Computing supplies on the basis of the avoidance of waste and war consumption, it is found that wheat and rye may be obtained in sufficient quantities to meet economical world consumption; high protein food for dairy animals will show a shortage of about 3,000,000 tons, while there will be sufficient supplies of other foods to allow economical consumption; beans, peas and rice will also be found in sufficient quantities to maintain economy in consumption; there are sufficient supplies of beef to keep pace with the capacity of refrigerating space.

Great Fat Shortage.

The most distinct reversal of policy will come with pork and dairy products, vegetable oils, sugar and coffee. Utmost economy will be required in the use of fats and oils, in which there is a world shortage of about 8,000,000,000 pounds. There are sufficient supplies for us to return to our normal sugar consumption if other nations continue their present short rations, or even if their rations are slightly increased. If the European countries, however, are to resume their normal sugar consumption it will be through our continued conservation in order to share with them. There is a surplus of coffee.

Of the world total required to produce the results North America will furnish more than 60 per cent. The United States, including the West Indies, will be in a position to furnish a total of about 20,000,000 tons—against our pre-war exports of about 6,000,000 tons.

The bread grains situation allows the world to abandon the use of substitutes in wheat bread. Large supplies have accumulated in the Argentine, Australia and other hitherto inaccessible markets. A continued high milling percentage, economy of consumption and elimination of waste make it possible for the world to return to a white wheat loaf.

Of all our export possibilities in fats, the largest and most important item is pork. While we cannot supply the world deficiency we will be able to help it enormously because of the past policies of stimulating production and restraining consumption. The government's policy with regard to stimulating the production of wheat and of pork, the readiest source of fats, is thus amply justified by the situation upon the return of peace.

Famine Specter Still Stalks.

The people of the United States must continue care and wise economy in the use of food in order to complete the work of liberating the world. But even with the utmost conservation and production in this country there will be in Europe for the next year or more starvation beyond all human power to allay. In North Russia there are 40,000,000 people to whom food cannot be made accessible this winter. Their transportation is demoralized in complete anarchy. And even if international transport could be assured their ports of arrival would soon be frozen. Millions more who have felt keenly the oppression of war will be beyond reach of assistance.

We must realize that upon our shoulders rests a greater responsibility than we have ever before been asked to assume. We must realize that millions of lives depend absolutely upon the continued service and sacrifice of the American people.

We must realize that the specter of famine abroad now haunts the alien choice of our official home.

WOMEN BRINGING BOYS HOME

Can Release Troops, Pacing Unruly Peoples Through the Saving and Sending of Food into Territories.

Return of the New England troops from Europe will be hastened many weeks, possibly months, if everybody in Massachusetts continues to save food.

In explaining this assertion, James J. Phelan, Assistant Food Administrator, points out that the boys are being kept in Europe to prevent disorder there, and as disorder is brought on by hunger, a sufficiency of food will result in a return of normal conditions and of New England boys to their homes.

"We must either feed the hungry populations of Europe or maintain a large force there to suppress anarchy," said Mr. Phelan. "For no other than a selfish motive, this good business policy to feed rather than police or fight the hungry nations now in the throes of Bolshevism."

More than 200,000,000 hungry Europeans," he continued, "are dependent upon the United States for sustenance. In Northern Russia alone it seems inevitable that many millions will be left to their own resources, which means actual starvation for large numbers. Belgium, Serbia, Greece and the nations released from the yoke of Austria, a total population of 50,000,000, want bread and fats. They are dependent almost exclusively upon imports. This means that a part of our food must be sent to them.

"Behind these figures, representing as they do the hungry, lies disaster or anarchy. In order to meet this condition armed forces must be sent. But it can be met by a more intelligent method by the feeding of the hungry. Continuation of conservation here will accomplish this. By keeping steadfastly to this course of action order can be restored in Europe and with its restoration boys of the New England divisions will be able to return as well as those of other parts of the United States."

WOMEN RENEW PLEDGE.

More than 200,000 Massachusetts women have promised the State Food Administration to "carry on" in the work of conservation until, with the next harvest, sufficient food is available for every home in Europe as well as in America.

The pledge, as given by the members of the Boston Women's City Club, National Civic Federation, League for Catholic Women, Municipal League and many other organizations devoted to organized effort of women throughout the State reads: "We pledge to our country our best effort to prevent waste and the unwise use of our food reserves. We pledge our loyal co-operation in carrying out the conservation measures suggested by the government.

CHURCHES SAVE FOOD.

More than 200,000 pounds of food have been saved at church suppers throughout Massachusetts during the past year, according to an estimate made by the State Food Administration.

Where before the war food was put on the tables in heaping platters, it was served on the conservation plan during the past year, bringing about the large saving.

SUGAR FOR SQUASH CANNING.

The state food administration has sent out a request that all grocers make special efforts to supply sugar to customers who may wish the commodity to use in canning squash, and urges the co-operation of grocers and housewives, that a full use of the vegetable may be made.

FOOD GUARDIANS STILL NEEDED.

Women of Massachusetts must remain the guardians of the food resources of this state until the obligations of the United States to the Allies are paid in full, a communication received by the State Food Administration from Herbert Hoover says. Mr. Hoover's statement follows:

"The food supplies of the world have been steadily lessening. It is the impact of this shortage which has knocked at every door in the United States.

"We hold it in our power, and ours alone, to keep the wolf from the door of the world. This duty is wider than war—it is as wide as our humanity.

"Every woman is called to serve in the work of world relief."

LARGE SUGAR SAVING.

Advise given by the Massachusetts Food Administration from Mr. Hoover state that during the months of July, August, September, October and November of this year, the American people saved no less than 1,550,000,000 pounds of sugar over their normal consumption.

"The Food Administration's office in asking for economy in the use of sugar was to insure a supply that would be adequate to meet the needs of the Allies who would have to depend on the same sources as the United States so long as the war lasted. As soon as the armistice made a change in our own program possible the restrictions were lifted."

ADVICE TO "FLU" CONVALESCENTS

SPAIN AND ENGLAND REPORT INCREASE IN TUBERCULOSIS AFTER INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

U. S. Public Health Service Warns Public Against Tuberculosis. One Million Cases Tuberculosis in United States—Each a Source of Danger.

Influenza Convalescents Should Have Lungs Examined—Colds Which Hang On Often Beginning of Tuberculosis. No Cause for Alarm if Tuberculosis Is Recognized Early—Patent Medicines Not to Be Trusted.

* Beware tuberculosis after in* fluenza. No need to worry if
* you take precautions in time.
* Don't diagnose your own con* dition. Have your doctor exam* ine your lungs several times at * monthly intervals. Build up your * strength with right living, good
* food and plenty of fresh air.
* Don't waste money on patent
* medicines advertised to cure tu* berculosis.
* Become a fresh-air crank and
* enjoy life.

Washington, D. C. (Special).—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur Newsholme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time. "Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is a danger I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly the number of tuberculous persons in each state despite the fact that most of the states have made the disease reportable. In New York city, where reporting has been in force for many years, over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis are registered with the Department of Health. These familiar figures, however, do not include the addition of unrecognized and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 290 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.
In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "A person who has recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General, "should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through the clothing nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.
The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs, such as "cough" and "spits" which hang upon.
"These," he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength suffer, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages. Patient medicines dangerous in tuberculosis."
"Above all," he said, "do not trust in the misleading promises of unscrupulous patent and quack fakers. There is no specific medicine for the cure of tuberculosis. The money spent on such medicines is thrown away. It should be spent for good food and clean living."
